

Shlomo Y. Tarba is an Assistant Professor in Strategic Management at the Management School, University of Sheffield, UK.

He is one of the founding members and a Vice-President of EMRBI for Scholarly Relations, and a Senior Fellow of EuroMed International Academy of Business. He received his PhD in Strategic Management from Ben-Gurion University and Master's in Biotechnology degree at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, Israel. His research interests include organizational ambidexterity, strategic agility, and mergers and acquisitions.

Dr. Tarba serves as an Associate Editor of EuroMed Journal of Business and has served as a guest-editor for the special issues at the journals such as Human Resource Management (US, Wiley), California Management Review (University of California, Berkeley), Management International Review, and others.

Dr. Tarba's research papers are published/forthcoming in journals such as Journal of Management (SAGE), Academy of Management Perspectives, California Management Review, Management International Review, International Business Review, Human Resource Management Review, International Journal of Human Resource Management, International Studies of Management & Organization, Thunderbird International Business Review, and others.

His paper has been selected and published in Best Paper Proceedings of the Academy of Management (USA) in 2006.

His recent two co-authored books are A Comprehensive Guide to Mergers & Acquisitions: Managing the Critical Success Factors Across Every Stage of the M&A Process by Pearson & Financial Times Press, and Mergers, Acquisitions, and Strategic Alliances: Understanding The Process by Palgrave Macmillan.

Dr. Tarba is a member of the following professional societies such as Academy of Management (AOM), Strategic Management Society (SMS), British Academy of Management (BAM), European Group for Organizational Studies (EGOS), and participated in the annual conferences organized by them as a presenter and/or track/session chair.